Tokyo, Nov. 2 (AP)—Three Japanese army officers, including the former deputy chief of the Japanese army, are under arrest for questioning in connection with the execution of three Doolittle airmen October 15, 1942, near Shanghai.

Allied headquarters made the announcement today.

A Major Hata was placed in protective custody by the Japanese government in a Tokyo military hospital pending recovery, when he will be transferred to Omori prison camp near Yokohama.

Lt. Yusei Wamitsu, son of a prominent Japanese, also was disclosed as having been arrested. He now is in Omori.

First of the Japanese arrested for questioning about the executions was Lt. Gen. Shigeru Sawada, retired, who commanded the Japanese 13th Army in China at the time of the executions. His transfer to Omori was announced in mid-October.

3 Executed, Cremated

No specific charges have been filed against the three Japanese, but Sawada is known to have been in charge of the Shanghai area when the three Americans—Lt. William G. Farrow of Lakewood, Ohio; Lt. Dean Hallmark of Dallas, Texas, and Staff Sgt. Harold Spatz of Lebo, Kas.—were executed and their bodies cremated there.

Wamitsu is listed in the Tokyo directory as the only son of Yonofusa Wamitsu, president of the Greater East Asia Independence society and former vice president of the Tokyo Bar association.

Vigilance against resurgent Japanese who still dream of reconquest and revenge while outwardly appearing complacent, an Allied headquarters authority declared today, is more important at present than the rounding up of war criminals.

Foresees Danger

Brig. Gen. Elliot R. Thorpe said, however, the attitude is limited to a few individuals with small followings. Other Allied sources said there was potential danger that this type of thinking would increase when large numbers of demobilized troops are repatriated from China and other regions where they felt no physical defeat.

Thorpe added his department did not consider it likely that thousands of able-bodied Japanese ex-service men, and more particularly the former members of the disbanded rabid and rough Gendarmarie, could abandon overnight their carefully indoctrinated fanaticism and belief in Japan's ruling destiny.

"We are more interested," he said, "in what's going on day by day in Japan, and less interested in what was done in the past by men who have already been arrested by the Japanese police and have no chance of escape."

ONE HUNTER IS HURT IN COUNTY

One hunter was slightly injured in a mishap on the first day of the small game season but throughout the state three gunners were killed and more than a score injured. One hunter was found dead today near Warren from a heart attack.

Victim of the only reported accident in this county was Cornelius Laughman, aged about 40, Hanover R. 3, who was peppered in the legs with shot as he hunted in Mt. Pleasant township about 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning. A hunting companion shot at a rabbit when the pellets hit Laughman. He was treated at the Hanover hospital.

Game Protector Leo Bushman said rabbits, squirrels and pheasants generally were reported plentiful by the largest army of hunters to take the field here since 1940. Rabbits, however, are scarce in some sections. The game protector said he had no reports of quail having been seen although 70 pairs were stocked in the county. Hard winters have almost wiped out the quail here, he said.

Bushman said he collected several $15 fines from hunters who violated the 5 p. m. limit which is being strictly enforced. Several others started before 9 a. m. and were caught. He would not reveal the names.

Rehabilitation Advice

Speaking on the subject of rehabilitation, at the Thursday night banquet in St. James Lutheran church, Major A. H. Abplanalp, chaplain at Indiantown Gap, declared that from his talks with soldiers about to be discharged, the feeling among them is "Let Me Alone."

"At the close of World War I it appeared that the nation was not prepared for peace, and no plans were made for the returning veterans," he said. "The pendulum has swung to the other side now. Veterans' organizations, auxiliaries, YMCA and everyone is getting ready to grab the soldier and 'rehabilitate' him."

"We are going to have some misfits as the soldiers return to civilian life, but these are not the rank and file. Most soldiers are coming back real men, because they left as such."

Major Abplanalp warned members of the league not to become overzealous on rehabilitation. He advised them to carry on their program, but to offer it, not force it, on the returned servicemen.

Parking Meters Expected Here Soon

Gettysburg's parking meters, which were ordered nearly two months ago when shipment was promised within 30 days, now are expected to arrive soon, according to Vernon Corie, member of the borough council's safety committee who complained recently by telephone to the C. K. Koontz Equipment company at Pittsburgh, holders of the local meter contract.

Mr. Corie has been informed by letter that the meters were to have been shipped Monday from Chicago and the meter standards are reported to have been shipped some time ago. Neither shipment has yet arrived.

A meter-installation crew is scheduled to finish a job at Huntingdon, Pa., this week and is under orders to come to Gettysburg next week to start installing the meters here, Mr. Corie has been informed.

Strikes that tied up materials needed in the manufacture of the meters have caused the delay, the local councilman was told.

Explains Situation

Mr. Smith said that monies had been paid out of the liquid fuels fund which should have been paid from the general fund.

"Some payments were for bond refunding and some for road bonds," he said. "We learned when the audit was made that under state law, refunds received by counties must be deposited in a special fund and expended only for highway purposes. The payment in Adams county was all in one check. It had been done for years, and nobody knew the difference until the audit was made."

"So far as the money was concerned, it was all set up in the budget. The commissioners took action to set up a separate fund."

The auditor general, in his report, suggested that grants to counties having deficits should be withheld "until the amount of the deficit in each county is replaced and credited to the liquid fuels account."

This has been done in Adams county, Mr. Smith said.

REPORT $57,050 IN BOND SALES FIRST 4 DAYS

Eight of the 17 agencies in Adams county authorized to sell Victory bonds in the Victory Loan campaign reported incomplete returns during the first four days of the drive for a total sale of $57,050, the county war finance committee headquarters announced this morning.

One agency reported its sales for the first day. Another reported "partial" sales for the first two days and none of the eight gave complete reports for the first four days of the campaign. Nine agencies failed to submit a report.

Sale of "E" bonds totaled $8,550 and the total sales included sales of all types of bonds to individuals including the "E" bonds.

Agencies were urged today to make daily reports in order that a complete report may be given each day of the progress of the drive. The county committee must submit daily reports to state headquarters and each state in turn reports daily to national headquarters.

County Quota

Adams county's quota for "E" bonds is $350,000 and the quota for all types of bonds to individuals, including "E" bonds is $890,000. The corporate quota has not been announced by state headquarters.

Purchasers of "E" bonds, in any denomination, may exchange their certification slips at the Majestic theatre for tickets to the Infantry Concert Group concert in Brua chapel on November 9. The certification forms may be exchanged beginning today. It will be a case of first come, first served. No seats will be reserved.

Volunteer workers of the county committee were also asked today to report daily. Women workers are asked to report their daily sales to the bond booth in the Hotel Gettysburg lobby in order that the Women's Division may submit its daily reports and be fully acquainted with the progress of the drive.

The session opened at 9:45 a. m. A panel discussion, led by Leslie V. Stock, Biglerville, on ways and means of improving the educational program in Adams county, was a feature of the morning session.

Departmental meetings opened the afternoon session, and talks on public library service and Junior Red Cross were scheduled at a general session.

C. E. RALLY SUNDAY

The Junior Christian Endeavor societies of Adams county will meet in the Biglerville United Brethren church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Each of the societies has been asked to contribute to the program for this rally.

The committee in charge of the work this morning was headed by Mrs. Robert Kenworthy and included Mrs. George Groft, Mrs. Louise Purcell and Mrs. Joseph Smith. Hot breakfasts had been served on the first Friday of October to 117 boys and girls at the school by this committee: Mrs. George Groft, chairman; Mrs. Rose Littleton, Miss Anna McSherry, Mrs. Charles Woodward and Mrs. William Small.

A roll call at the club meeting Thursday evening showed that pupils of the fourth and seventh grades tied in having the greatest number of mothers in attendance and the pupils of those grades will receive prizes. The only grade not represented by mothers at the club meeting was the eighth.

Fund raising plans were discussed and it was announced that the next meeting of the club will be held Thursday afternoon, December 6, at 3:45 o'clock when the children's choir will present a musical program.

ALLEGED FUND DEFICIT HERE NOT SHORTAGE

A "deficit" of $587.65 uncovered by an audit three months ago of the books of the Adams county commissioners, was remedied by a transfer from one fund to another, and so far as the money was concerned, there was no shortage, Chief Clerk Clarence C. Smith said today. The full report of the audit was received at the commissioners' office in the court house today.

The audits made in Adams and 36 other Pennsylvania counties, according to State Auditor General G. Harold Wagner, disclosed that 20 counties, Adams among them, had "deficits" in their liquid fuels accounts ranging from $11 in Cameron county to $178,435.27 in Chester county. The figure for Adams county was $587.65.

While the board has no definite means of knowing how many of these have gone to overseas men and women, the APO addresses indicate that the number is considerable.

TODAY MIGHT HAVE BROUGHT INVASION NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Americans awoke today to another day of disturbing news, just as they have for many days past. Strikes, and any number of troubles great and small!

But the news they might have had today was not to come. Instead of awaiting word of perhaps 200,000 American boys who might have been facing a murderous, suicidal Japanese defense of Kyushu island, thousands were waiting on both east and west coasts for veterans home-ward bound.

Today would have been a crucial day on Kyushu but for the series of fortuitous circumstances which knocked out Japan less than three months ago.

Thanksgiving Time
Under the schedule fixed before Hirohito hollered quits, MacArthur and Nimitz would have struck against the Japanese homeland night before last. Presumably they would have been ashore today with most of 10 divisions. They would have been the 26th, 33rd, 40th, 41st, 43rd, 1st Cavalry, the American, and the 2nd, 3rd and 5th Marines. Coming in behind them would have been the 77th, 81st and 98th after a feint toward the inland sea around the strait between Shikoku and Honshu.

The Japanese have made it plain what they intended to do. They would have met us with suicide boats, with a kamikaze for which planes and pilots were being saved and with every man who could stand in defense of his homeland.

The news is not always heartening now. But no bobbing, face-down bodies of American boys dot the surf of southern Kyushu, either, and it is almost Thanksgiving.

The former Jesse Byers cannery company building now used to store feed, was destroyed by fire shortly after noon today at the John L. Whitrode filling station and store located about 1½ miles south of Littlestown on the Baltimore road.

A quantity of feed and a truck stored in the building were destroyed as well as a number of chickens housed in a nearby chicken house which was badly damaged.

For a time the fire threatened to spread to the filling station and store and the Gettysburg and Taneytown fire companies were summoned in addition to the Littlestown company.

Water from nearby wells was used in bringing the fire under control. The cause of the fire has not been determined. No estimate of the damage was available early this afternoon.

County Asks No Aid For Post-War Projects

Adams county is among 17 counties in Pennsylvania in which no communities have applied to the State Postwar Planning Commission for monetary aid in preparing plans for public works projects, the commission reported Thursday.

Mark S. James, executive director, said even without any requests from the 17 counties applications received to date exceed the $1,000,000 appropriated for the purpose by the 1945 session of the General Assembly.

Since the General Assembly provided for allocation of the funds on a population basis, James said, funds set aside for Adams and the other 16 counties from which no applications have come may not be used elsewhere even though applications still are not forthcoming from them.

NON-STOP HOP BY B29S FROM JAPAN TO D. C.

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Air Force marked up today a second-trip victory for its B-29's over the mileage and adverse weather of the tough non-stop hop from Japan to Washington.

Four of the Superforts flew into National airport at 7:38 o'clock last night after a 6,544-mile trip from Mizutani on the Japanese home island of Hokkaido. The lead plane's time was 27 hours, 29 minutes.

The 43 fliers succeeded in a task which defeated three other B-29's in the first attempt in September, but failed in a more ambitious plan to better the world distance record by having one of the planes go on to Cuba or Puerto Rico.

British Hold Record
The plan was abandoned while the big aircraft were over Canada. Because of bad weather, the elected plane did not have enough fuel to continue another 1,150 miles beyond the capital.

The flight leader was Brig. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, Jr., of Richmond, Va. The B-29 commanded by Col. Kenneth O. Sanborn, of Annapolis, Md., had been designated to try for a record. It landed with around 900 gallons of gasoline, enough for about three hours' flight. If Sanborn had been able to continue to Cuba, he would have covered 7,693 miles. The distance to Puerto Rico would have been 8,088 miles from Mizutani.

The distance record of 7,158 miles was established by the British in 1938.

A third speaker was Edward Gogolin, general manager of the PMTA, whose talk dwelt on the P.U.C., its reorganization and how it will affect motor carriers, and the I.C.C. and plans for rigid control of motor carriers.

A motion picture, "Freedom Rides on Rubber," was shown. H. Earl Pitzer, president of the Adams county chapter, presided.

The Greyhound Post House restaurant will close from 10:45 p. m. until 6:30 a. m. each night, effective tonight, for the duration of the Greyhound bus drivers' strike.

Mrs. Mary Geis, Post House manager, said that business did not warrant keeping the restaurant open during the late hours in the evening and the early morning hours during the strike. No Greyhound buses are operating through here during the strike.

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The government attempted today to halt a spreading Greyhound bus strike that has tied up service in 19 eastern states.

this war to end all wars," he continued. "Science can overcome epidemics and floods and other things, but it cannot whip a war. This is a matter which is in the hearts of the peoples of the world. It is a matter of fundamentals that they must gear into their lives.

"We know a lot in this world today. We can wipe out an entire city with one plane's cargo. I believe that now we have all the knowledge that man has ever known, but I don't think we know where we are at.

Must Fit Selves

"I believe it becomes a question of whether we, ourselves, are fit to rehabilitate the veteran. We must discipline ourselves spiritually.

"It is not so hard to think straight when you are thousands of miles away, when you are eating dehydrated food, hiding behind rocks, with no guarantee that you will ever get back. Those are the guys you are going to rehabilitate. Few will need it. They are thinking pretty straight."

Mrs. Alton M. Motter, president of the Harrisburg league, presided. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Robert Wolfe, vice president. The invocation was given by the Rev. Dr. R. R. ## EXPECT FEW PRICES TO GO UP WITH WAGES

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Any price increases under the administration's revised wage-price policy seemed likely today to be "negligible."

That's Price Administrator Chester Bowles' view of how President Truman's program of permitting price boosts only under rigid conditions will work out.

Meanwhile John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers journal asserted, the wage-price policy would "enlarge the realm of confusion."

These were other developments on the hot issue of wages and prices:

Wallace's Warning

Secretary of Commerce Wallace said there is danger of another depression "if corporate profits stay up and wages down." He told reporters this would mean four to seven million people unemployed for years, once the expected buying boom is over.

Bowles announced that retail price ceilings for new automobiles will be unveiled in four or five days. They are expected to be about the same as 1942 prices. And he hinted dealers would be required to absorb an increase in producers' ceilings.

In his statement at a news conference Bowles said the wage-price policy set forth by Mr. Truman had served to emphasize the administration's "determination to hold the price line against inflation."

Renews Charges Against Police

Harrisburg, Nov. 2 (AP)—Democratic Senator John H. Dent of Westmoreland county renewed charges today that two state policemen met Republican county Chairman James F. Malone and a registration commission official in Pittsburgh Sept. 25 despite a request by Governor Martin for a "public retraction and apology."

"Apologize? Governor! Why I have just begun to fight," Dent said in a statement telephoned here to the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' association by Senator Joseph Barr (D-Allegheny).

Martin asked for a retraction and apology yesterday after announcing that Col. C. M. Wilhelm, police commissioner, had reported meeting Dent, Barr and County Commissioner John J. Kane of Allegheny county in connection with charges by Kane that members of the state police had "taken orders from and reported to" Malone.

FATALLY BURNED

Oil City, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—Nine-year-old Meredith, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Adams, died last night in Oil City hospital from burns suffered at her home. The child's clothing became ignited as she was dressing before an open gas stove.

NO RUSH ON SHOES

Pittsburgh, Nov. 1 (AP)—Citizens of Pittsburgh took the end of shoe rationing with unexpected calm Wednesday. Shoe merchants said there seemed fewer customers in the stores than usual and most of those were ex-servicemen getting reconverted to civilian footwear.

DIGEST SHOWS PENNSYLVANIA'S TAX POSITION

Harrisburg, Nov. 2 (AP)—Pennsylvania's tax position is favorable in comparison with other eastern industrial states, Governor Martin says, but it will be better when an exemption for manufacturing corporations from the capital stock tax becomes effective.

The governor made public a digest of a survey made at his direction by Dr. Edward Logan, budget secretary, and Lloyd Chalfant, secretary of commerce.

The survey reveals, Martin said in a statement yesterday, that "corporations seeking locations for manufacturing plants or mercantile establishments will find tax conditions in this state very favorable for successful operation."

Local Taxes Low

Governor Martin explained the survey found that only Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia "have a better corporate tax structure than we do."

Other states included in the study were Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, and Ohio.

Martin said the report showed "the advantageous tax position which Pennsylvania offers is due principally to the low level of local taxation despite the fact that state corporate taxes were found to be higher than in the other states included in the survey."

Guffey Stumps For Lawrence For Mayor

Pittsburgh, Nov. 2 (AP)—U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey entered the mayoralty fight last night to tell the last Democratic rally of the campaign that Pittsburgh "needs as its mayor" a man like Democratic state Chairman David L. Lawrence "who can and will be heard in Washington."

Guffey said he had come from Washington to speak for a "life long friend" for mayor.

He declared Lawrence could get "every possible bit of federal help for the improvement of Pittsburgh," that he was "welcome at the White House," and would "receive a respectful hearing" before any congressional committee.

"Washington is a bad place for a man who doesn't know his way around," asserted Guffey. "It's big and it's confusing. * * * Your senators can help but basically, the city's spokesman must be its chief executive—your mayor."

The continent of Africa is deficient in natural harbors, gulfs, and bays.

TO NAME STATE HOUSING CHIEF

Harrisburg, Nov. 2 (AP)—The task of meeting a demand for an estimated 100,000 new housing units for Pennsylvanians every year for the next 10 years, confronts the new State Housing Board.

Lack of information on the subject, however, is handicapping action, Ritchie Lawrie, Jr., Harrisburg architect and chairman of the board, commented today.

Little has been done in the way of fact-finding as a basis for planning, since an earlier Housing Board lapsed into inactivity with the war's outbreak. The 1945 Legislature established a new board under the Department of Commerce, but Lawrie

I am making every effort to meet as many voters as possible, but I realize that, handicapped as I am, I shall be unable to cover thoroughly all the 42 districts of the county. I am taking this means therefore of soliciting your vote and influence in case I shall not have the opportunity of meeting you personally.

Most of you are acquainted with me and recall that I lost both legs from physical defects early in life while employed among you.

To those of you who do not know me, I wish only to add that I have carried on with artificial legs as a battlefield guide for years. My handicap will in no way prevent me from serving efficiently and diligently, and I am respectfully soliciting your support.

Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, Nov. 2 (AP)—Sister Kenny nodded at Rosalind Russell and said: "That's the only actress in Hollywood who can play me on the screen."

It was the first day of work on "Sister Kenny," a biography of the nurse who developed a treatment for infantile paralysis. I asked why she thought Miss Russell was the ideal portrayer.

"In the first place, she is not divorced," said Sister Kenny. "And I have always admired the sincerity of her work since I saw her in 'Craig's Wife.'"

I asked if Rosalind resembled her as a young woman. "Yes, quite a bit," she said, "although I was even thinner than she in those days." This is no reflection on Miss Russell's figure, which is indeed quite trim.

Fred Astaire's retirement has nothing to do with any loss of skill of those talented gams. I watched him do a number with a cane for "Blue Skies" (he was pounding it, not supporting himself) and he never looked spryer. . . . Dottie Lamour returned from her Redlands' log cabin to await her baby after the first of the year. . . . William Holden gets his first role since discharge in Columbia's mystery, "The Walls Came Tumbling down."

Before the footlights: Ken Murray's "Blackouts of 1945" continues to be one of the phenomena of show business. It has played just off Hollywood and Vine for umpteenth hundred times and no end is in view. When I caught the show it had changed little from when I first saw it on opening night, June 24, 1942. Still plenty of girls, gags and corn. Don't shoot, Mr. Murray.

Joan Caulfield, the pride of Orange, N. J., gets a bigger contract after co-starring with Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire. . . . Eddie Bracken, proud papa of two girls, is expecting another child and he hopes it will be another girl. He told us: "I want 4 girls. I guess I just like girls."

Would Use Obsolete Vessels As Shrines

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Legislation authorizing the secretary of the navy to give interested states various obsolete or condemned vessels for use as shrines has been introduced by Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the Senate naval committee.

One bill specifically would give the famous aircraft carrier Enterprise to the state of New York if wanted there as a memorial or shrine.

The proposal follows an offer by Secretary of Navy James Forrestal to give the Battleships Texas and Louisiana to the states for which they were named.

Another measure by Walsh would authorize the navy to give captured or condemned guns, projectiles, flags, documents or other items to non-profit and patriotic organizations.

SOFT SOAP

Hoquiam, Wash., (AP)—With an eye on the calendar, Quimby and Wilson, furniture dealers, invited Hoquiam's kids to make the store the object of their Halloween pranks. The store used its advertising space in the Grays Harbor Washingtonian to bid all children to a window soaping contest, offering to reserve space on its display windows and promising prizes for the outstanding decorations. The only regulation says the kids must draw only with white soap.

If I am elected Burgess of Gettysburg at the November 6 elections, and the Town Council will lend its support I pledge the people of Gettysburg that I will do everything within my power to accomplish above mentioned projects at the earliest possible moment. They can be done and they should be done. Someone must take the lead and I am anxious to devote my efforts to their successful attainment.

I feel confident that Gettysburg can secure federal aid to assist in financing these projects, in order that local taxpayers may be spared the burden of additional taxes.

ABOUT HATS

The hat a woman wears is not
To keep her lovely temples hot
Or hold each glorious tress in place
Or shield the sunshine from her face,
But (so I'm told) it's just to be
A bit of thrilling millinery.

'Tis not, as hats for men, designed
For service of a useful kind;
Its purpose is to start surprise
In all the other women's eyes
And win from them this plaudit:
"That

Is certainly a darling hat!"

Man's hat, as everybody knows
Must weather every gale that blows;
Brave rain and shine and hail and sleet
And rolling trips along the street;
Be cleaned a dozen times or more,
And stay as natty as before.

A woman's hat, like fruit and flesh,
To give enjoyment must be fresh.
The charm of it is hard to hold;
Worn once or twice, the thing is old!

Bought yesterday, it's called "a fright!"
Should change the fashion over night.

ON GETTING EXCITED

I like to see people get excited over beautiful things, over a glorious friend, over a superb painting or a stirring book. But it is always a sad spectacle when I see a person get excited over making a heap of money, or over beating out the other fellow in some business deal.

When we get excited over something that feeds the mind and heart, somehow that excitement spreads—creeps into other lives and warms those lives—perhaps changes them in a most pronounced manner. One of my roommates in college told me one evening of a great book that had changed his entire attitude toward life. The author had long gone to his reward, or his long sleep, as you wish, but to this day that which he left is live and vital.

It looks so silly and foolish to see two or more people getting excited over things that only embitter and cause pain and sorrow.

There is nothing so gloriously grand as to see the little tots at Christmas time all excited over the gifts that come from Mr. Santa Claus. It is a thrill that comes but once in a lifetime and which endures, I believe, in some form or other.

The excitement over a first-born is something that cannot be explained, adequately, outside the one excited himself. (I refer to himself, for it's the he who usually gives out all the excitement.)

The artist gets excited over the effects that come about from applying his paint to his canvas. Because, you see, he keeps seeing his soul revealed in the color before him. I once watched a famous cartoonist make his cartoon for the next day, and he entered so into the spirit of the idea that he had to laugh and smile all through the production. He seemed lost with his own excitement trotting along with him.

There's nothing to be ashamed about in getting excited, if it's over something that sprays just a little more joy into the world, or lifts the curtains from a gloomy or discouraged heart.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Regain the Faith"

Blissfield, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—Sixteen German prisoners of war and an American soldier were fatally injured when a train smashed into their truck at a crossing near here Wednesday.

Halloween Celebrators Have Hilarious Time: Now that the tumult and shouting have ceased, we know that Halloween has passed. Boys and girls and men and women joined in the observance of All Saints' Day, Friday evening, with the result that the parade, arranged by the Loyal Order of Moose, was one of the most successful in recent years. The Moose and Boys' bands furnished music for those in the parade.

Cut-Over Made for Two Phone Systems Here: In the space of one minute at 7 o'clock Friday morning, residents of Gettysburg and Adams county bid good-bye to the Bell telephone system in this and neighboring counties. At this time, linemen at both the Cumberland Valley and Bell exchanges here "cut" the heat coils by which the unification of the two telephone systems was effected.

G. E. Trigg, of Harrisburg, chief engineer of the Cumberland Valley company, which absorbed the Bell system in this county, was in charge of the cut-over. The change was made so quickly that few, if any subscribers were aware of the brief lapse in service.

TRUMAN'S PROD TO WAGE BOOST HAS LOOPHOLE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—President Truman—in a couple of paragraphs tucked away in his statement on wages and prices—has given American industry a prod to raise wages—plus a loophole.

Company after company has balked on unions' demands for pay boosts on the grounds that such an increase would prevent the companies from making a fair profit.

But, in his wage-price policy statement Tuesday night, Mr. Truman in effect tells industry:

"All right. You say you can't raise wages without losing a fair profit. So you come to us now and want a price rise to make up for the wage raise and we say no.

"But even though the government tells you now that you can't raise your price, go ahead and raise wages.

Must Prove Necessity

"Then, if at the end of six months you can prove to the government that giving that wage raise has deprived you of a fair profit, the government will consider a price raise for you."

There are two very important things to remember about this new policy:

1. A company could lose a lot of money in six months before it got a price increase. But a company is hardly likely to raise wages so high that it would suffer a big loss.

2. What would happen to the government's efforts to hold down prices if at the end of six months business generally was allowed to raise prices because raising wages had deprived it of a fair profit?

Room For Increases

Mr. Truman apparently thinks that industry generally can boost wages without boosting prices and still suffer no loss. If this is true, there'd be no general price rise at the end of six months. He said:

"While the positions of different industries vary greatly, there is room in the existing price structure for business as a whole to grant increases in wage rates."

But suppose a union made an excessive wage demand. Would a company just go ahead and grant the full demand, feeling confident that at the end of six months it would get a fat price increase?

One of the men who is the brains behind the government's wage-price policy said: "No. I don't think so. Industry will try to keep down the wage settlements for its own sake."

V - D Treatment Center Continues

Harrisburg, Nov. 2 (AP)—The war's end brought no let-up in the need for the state's venereal disease treatment center at Lancaster, Dr. Edgar S. Everhart, chief of the state Health Department's venereal disease division, said today.

The center was set up in 1943 for the treatment of infected women as a result of a study made by the department of health in cooperation with military authorities in the Indian town Gao military reservation area.

"Where before we treated cases that developed from contacts with soldiers, now it is largely cases from contacts with civilians," Dr. Everhart explained. The center treated approximately 750 women in the first two years of operation and Dr. Everhart said there has been no decided increase or decrease in recent months.

Growing Cyclamens Indoors

The beautiful Cyclamen, pronounced to rhyme with pickle-man, is one of the most desirable of house flowering plants. It is quite easy to grow under ordinary living room conditions, providing a few simple steps in starting and management are observed.

Perhaps the most serious mistake in care is to apply water so the leaves and plant crown are wet. In this respect the cyclamen is similar to the African Violet (Saintpaulia). Too, tiny mites occasionally assail the plant about the time blooms begin to appear and may continue without detection until all the buds drop. The third mistake worth consideration is the faulty practice of lower 60's without harm. Apparently the chief evils of high temperature result from dry air and not from heat. Therefore, this plant does best where hot-water furnace heat is employed and suffers most from hot-air furnace heat. It likes plenty of sunshine, although the foliage and flowers should be shielded from the midday sun when the rays are hot. The south, east and west windows are recommended in order named.

Water should always be administered from the bottom by placing the pot in a larger vessel of water at or near room temperature until moisture shows on the soil surface. Or the pot may be kept permanently in a large container surrounded by peat moss and moisture applied through the moss. Of course, clay pots are necessary for this type of irrigation.

Questionnaires mailed to average house plant growers elicit the information that cyclamens are injured by fumes from gas stoves, particularly from cooking stoves with faulty flue connections. Where the plant is grown in houses heated by gas stoves or where gas is employed for cooking it should have the benefits of plenty of fresh air to neutralize the gas effects.

If mites are detected, usually first revealed by early blooms deformed and streaked with color, they should be killed off at once by dusting with nicotine dust. The same treatment will control plant lice. In either case it is advisable to cover dusted plants at once with a snug paper cone or oilcloth to hold the fumes among the leaves for 8 to 12 hours.

Growers wishing to have cyclamens in bloom over winter may buy small potted specimens now and force them to early bloom or retard growth somewhat by reducing moisture. Or, as already advised, fully grown plants can be purchased which will come into full bloom in a few days.

It's the "LET-DOWN" that is important

Unless the cow cooperates during milking by "letting down" her milk... part of it remains in the udder. Much milk is lost... the cow tends to dry up... and udder troubles are more frequent. The most effective way, according to dairy scientists, to stimulate complete "let down" is to wash the teats and bottom of udder with warm water, then draw one or two squirts from each teat. Then, one minute later, let the MILK-MASTER do the milking. Its gentle action, with suction automatically adjusted for each teat according to need, insures that the "let-down" lasts throughout milking period. There is no discomfort to interfere with "let-down". This automatic suction control is an exclusive feature of the Perfection MILK-MASTER. Come in and let us tell you more about this "different" milker. Ask for a copy of Perfection Co's. bulletin about faster milking.

FRESH STRIKES ADD THOUSANDS TO NATION'S IDLE

(By The Associated Press)
Fresh labor disputes added thousands of workers to the ranks of idle today, the national total of men and women off the job because of work stoppages jumping from 243,000 to 266,000.

The newest and biggest strike was the walkout of approximately 16,500 CIO Textile Workers in 19 plants in three New England states, Maine, New Hampshire and Connecticut. Another 5,000 workers in the San Francisco bay area were made idle because of the strike of AFL and CIO Machinists, making the total idle in the region 60,000.

Some 10,000 textile workers in nine plants in Maine left their jobs in a controversy over wages, which vary according to the type of work performed. They have asked for a raise of 10 cents an hour. Eight mills in Connecticut employing 2,500 and two mills in New Hampshire employing 4,000 struck in a dispute over demands for a closed or union shop. No wage issue was involved in their demands.

Bus Service Halted
There was little indication of a settlement of the strike of AFL and CIO machinists in the San Francisco bay area as an additional 5,000 workers were made idle because of shutdown of industries. Some 60,000 workers in about 200 plants are affected by the walkout.

Retail store milk supplies were reported shrinking because of the closing of a carton producing plant. A union spokesman said reports of carton shortage had been exaggerated but milk industry spokesmen denied there was an adequate backlog.

Service on six Greyhound bus lines operating east of the Mississippi to the Atlantic seaboard remained halted for the second day by a strike of some 4,000 AFL employees who left their jobs over a dispute on wages.

Food Stores Close
In New York, George E. Sift, president of Local 1202, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, said if a settlement was not reached "soon," the strike "may spread throughout the country."

In Salt Lake City, 60 of the major food stores were closed in a controversy over wages between management and 400 AFL Meat Cutters and Food Handlers. They quit work Thursday after the union said a disagreement on wage scales prevented the signing of a new contract. They are seeking $55 for 48 hours for journeymen meatcutters compared to current scales of $50.40 for 54 hours.

Picket Marshall Field
A walkout of 140 independent union workers at the Graphite

Bronze company in Cleveland kept 1,500 from work. Spokesmen of the Mechanics Educational Society of America Independent Union said the strikers had been demoted without a shop committee being consulted, while the company said the walkout was in violation of a contract. AFL pickets resumed marching around the block-square Marshall Field and Company department store in Chicago as 1,000 AFL non-selling employees continued their strike for higher wages. The company said the union on strike had a membership of about 800 of the store's 9,400 employees.

SAYS ATOMIC BOMB NOT TOO REVOLUTIONARY

Tokyo, Nov. 2 (AP)—Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, warplane designer who is studying aerial bomb damage in Japan, said today he found nothing in an inspection of atom-bombed Hiroshima and Nagasaki "that indicates to me a radical revolution in the science of war" to the point where we can dispense with the army, navy and air forces.

He told a news conference he failed to find any indication of primary fire caused by the bombs, and said they "fired the imagination more than they fired the cities." Most of the 60,000 deaths reported from Hiroshima, he said, resulted from falling parts of flimsy structure. The fire that followed the bombing, he added, was started by hot stoves.

De Seversky expressed the opinion the bomb was highly effective against Japan's cities of much wood construction, but he doubted that they would be equally destructive against a modern western city of concrete and steel structure.

"If a bomb like that dropped over Hiroshima were dropped over one of our cities," he said, "we would lose a lot of glass windows, we closed" and the loss of life in the center of the bombed area would be "no more than that from a 20,000-pound bomb."

The plane designer said he was

Urge Research In Artificial Limbs

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Congressional committee said today artificial limbs made for amputee war veterans are no better now than not convinced that the atomic bomb would make it possible "to dispense with incendiaries and high explosives if we are going to tackle well-prepared cities with concrete structures."

De Seversky said he was anxious for a test of an atomic bomb against a battleship and predicted one would be made shortly. He expressed the opinion that a bomb like the one used at Nagasaki would have little effect unless a direct hit were scored, "then the results would be phenomenal."

those made in Civil War days.

A report written by Chairman Kelley (D-Fa) of a House labor subcommittee of its investigations of aid for the physically handicapped advocated a well-financed research program under the United States public health service.

Kelley also recommended immediate discharge from the armed forces of all experienced makers of artificial limbs, expanded manufacturing and repair services, and intensive government "policing" of the limb-making industry to "prevent fraud."

Every veteran, the committee report said, should get an artificial limb he needs, regardless of cost.

Canada was discovered in 1497 by the English navigator John Cabot.

Chapter 22

"Get your hat and let's get out of here!" Wayne cried.

Anne laughed. "I didn't wear a hat."

Anne was conscious of the envious eyes of the other girls upon her. She was tingling from head to foot with excitement. Mr. Farham appeared in the doorway to grasp Wayne's hand.

"It's good to see you, Wayne. You're looking splendid. So this is why you disobeyed my orders and came back to town today, Anne," he smiled.

"No—upon my word, Mr. Farham, I didn't know he was coming. It must have been fate that brought me back!"

"I didn't let anybody know I was going to get this leave," Wayne explained. "I didn't want any cr—visitors, and I didn't want anything to go wrong. Uncle Nathan, I hope you don't mind—but you're going to do without a secretary today."

Mr. Farham shrugged. "Inasmuch as I didn't expect her back anyway, I'll try to get along."

"Where have you been any-way?" Wayne wanted to know.

"Home to visit my mother and father!"

"That was a heck of a thing to do! Suppose you hadn't been here when I needed you?"

"But I am here!"

"They went straight to a jewelry store where they picked out a diamond-studded wedding ring. Wayne really did the picking. Anne agreeing to everything he suggested. She thought, 'I've never been so completely happy—not even during the first few days of our engagement!'"

The feeling of desolation she had known coming home on the bus last night was entirely gone now.

Wayne said, "We'll really step out tonight, little darling. And tomorrow will really be the day—at last. You get on your prettiest evening frock. What I mean to tell you, lady, is we're really going places!"

As Anne came in the front door of Mrs. Adams' house the telephone was ringing. Not seeing Mrs. Adams about she answered it. To her surprise it was for her—Major Lowell was calling.

"Hello, Anne," he said, a note of controlled eagerness in his voice. "I called to ask a favor of you. I have to get some typing done tonight and I wondered if you might help me out." She had no idea of the amount of courage it had taken for him to make the call or to think up the excuse for seeing her again. She was glad that his request had not come when she was alone and lonely, at a time when she would have been tempted to accede to it.

She kept her voice steady. "I'm sorry, Major Lowell. But my fiancée, Wayne McDowell, is in town. I'm going out with him to night."

"Oh! It was completely quiet at the other end of the line. 'I hope you may be able to find someone to help you. Lola Shall we go, Wayne, darling?'"

Chester, who works in our office is quite a good typist. Mr. Farham could give you her telephone number."

"Thank you. Perhaps I shall try Miss Chester. Sorry to have bothered you." And he was gone.

She felt quite provoked with him. Why did he have to call just now, sounding wistful and ill-treated at the close of his conversation.

Upstairs a girl was standing outside the door to her apartment. A pert, pretty girl in a red dress. "Hello," she said, "Are you the one who advertised for a room-mate?"

Anne had completely forgotten her ad. "Oh, I'm sorry," she cried. "Yes, I'm the one—but since I put the ad in the paper, something has happened. Something wonderful! I—I'm going to be married tomorrow and after that I don't know what my plans will be. Could I have your name and address so I could get in touch with you if I decide to stay here?"

The girl said her name was Eunice Sartoris and she lived in a hotel for women not far away. Anne promised to call her soon.

Anne lifted a bouffant blue dance frock out of its folds of tissue paper and looked at it critically. She hadn't worn it for months, but it looked all right.

When she had put it on with her silver slippers and a band of silver rosebuds in her hair, she realized that she had never looked lovelier. Her honey-colored hair curled lovingly around her flushed face and her gray eyes shone with happiness. When she heard Wayne's ring at the door she caught up a light wrap and ran down to meet him. He stepped inside, caught his breath at sight of her and kissed her until she was breathless. Then they went down the pathway bordered by box hedges hand in hand.

When they reached Wayne's car parked at the curb, Anne drew back in shocked surprise. Carol King, gorgeous in a flame-colored gown, leaned out to greet her.

"Hello, Anne," she said, her beautiful mouth smiling serenely. "I persuaded Wayne it was selfish of him to keep himself away from his friends. So Jimmy and I came along. Anne Winslow, this is Jimmy Foster!"

Anne barely looked at the boy by Carol's side. She was trembling with anger and disappointment. Wayne was wearing an uneasy expression—one that she had come to recognize that he wore when he considered himself the victim of circumstances. She caught her lip savagely between her teeth, as within her there was born the determination to let nothing—not even Carol King's plotting—spoil this evening.

"I'm sure it's quite all right for you to come along if Wayne thinks so, Carol," she said charmingly, "but I hope you won't mind if we don't pay too much attention to you and Jimmy. I—hope you may be able to find someone to help you. Lola Shall we go, Wayne, darling?"

Fugitive Charges Man With Assault

Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—Martin Peters, 37, Palmer township, Pa., was held by police Thursday on a charge of assaulting 15-year-old Mabel Harris, while she was a fugitive from the Allentown State hospital.

Anne felt quite pleased with herself. "What Wayne needs is for me to make decisions for him, I guess," she thought. "And from now on, I'm going to do it, too." And she sat shamelessly close to him her head all but on his shoulder. When they got out of the car Carol gave her a look of pure venom. But Anne tossed her head and slid her hand through Wayne's arm. There was no way of daunting her tonight.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—We're just asking questions. . . Is Commissioner Eddie Egan's "threat" to revoke Mike Jacobs' promoters' license if Mike takes the Louis-Conn fight elsewhere just part of the ballyhoo? If not, what sound reason could Egan give for such an action? . . . This dept. always had the naive idea that a boxing commission's duty was to see that boxing was properly conducted, not to make matches or to produce an income of taxes for the state. . .

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

The runners will be back at Saratoga next August, according to our old friend, Mr. Reliable Source, and at the same time there will be a race meeting at one of the metropolitan New York tracks. . . The folks who have been ballyhooing the fact that Dick Scott, Navy center, is the son of the man who manages the Cadet store at West Point seem to have overlooked the fact that Dick's brother is manager of the

MAROON SCRUBS WIN 19-0 FROM SHIPPENSBURG

For three periods Thursday afternoon the Gettysburg high Jayvees played their poorest game of the season but exploded in the last period to tally three touchdowns and score a 19-0 victory over the Shippensburg high reserves on the local field.

Apparently victims of over-confidence following their victory last week over Hanover junior high, the Maroons played a very loose and unimpressive game for the first three periods.

Late in the third quarter Hottle got off a punt to Shippensburg's 30-yard line where the ball was fumbled and recovered by Gettysburg as the period ended. On the first play in the final period Shetter passed to Hottle who outran the Shippensburg secondary defense to score. The kick for the point was wide.

Hottle Runs 55

The Haehnlen-men kicked to Shippensburg who were soon forced to punt from their 40. Dunkinson returned to his 45. On the first play Hottle circled right end and raced 55 yards for a touchdown. A pass, Shetter to Hottle, was good for the point.

Shippensburg received the next kickoff and mixing end runs with passes, reeled off two first downs. Attempting to pass from their 35, the Greyhounds' found the pass intercepted by Westerdahl who scampered 40 yards for the final six-point. Hottle's boot for the point was wide.

The Maroon reserves took over at that point and held their opponents on even terms until the finish.

Next Thursday the local outfit plays a return game with Hanover junior high at Hanover.

ONLY 9 MINOR PLAYERS TAKEN

Chicago, Nov. 2 (AP)—There won't be many new faces in baseball's major leagues in 1946.

Many players in service will be back and so will most of the 1945 cast but the rookie crop appears slim.

Seven of the 16 major league owners dug into the minor league barrel of so-called talent—more than 5,400 players—at the annual draft yesterday and plucked out only nine men. Two of them, Lou Novikoff and Frank Demaree, carried the tag of ex-big leaguers on their bill of sale of $7,500 each.

The other seven minor leaguers, including four on the national defense list, cost the purchasing clubs a total of $47,500. The grand outlay of $62,500 by seven clubs for the nine players compared to a last year's $150,000 for 21 players drafted.

It was the lowest number drafted since 1935.

The last place Philadelphia Phillies, second club to make a grab, picked Novikoff, the 30-year-old outfielder who failed in three trials with the Chicago Cubs but always has been a hitting star in the minors.

The tailend Philadelphia Athletics, getting first choice, passed the Mad Russian in favor of another former Cub, the veteran outfielder Frank Demaree, who's been playing in the major and minor circuits for 15 years.

restaurant at the military academy Louisiana State university plans to build a basketball court that will accommodate 24 teams in action at the same time.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Mike Jacobs has received one order for 100 tickets for the Louis-Conn scrap at $100 apiece—and a check made with the order. . . Les MacMittell, now assistant to the registrar at New York U., has begun training for the winter track meets after office hours. Les says he wouldn't be surprised if Gunder Haegg or Arne Andersson actually ran that four-minute mile this summer.

South Penn Leader Plays Here Tonight

Tonight the Gettysburg high school Maroons will try to check the championship dash of the Hershey high football team when they engage the Trojans on the local field at 8 o'clock.

Hershey, unbeaten in South Penn conference play, is a top-heavy favorite to win the contest but the Maroons are determined to give their opponents a surprise.

Coach "Bill" Ridinger's charges are in good physical shape and with the exception of Dick Hess, halfback, all members of the squad are ready for action.

Several hundred Hershey fans and the Hershey high school band will accompany the team here.

PREDICTIONS ON WEEK-END TILTS

By HAROLD CLAUSEN

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Navy will defeat Notre Dame tomorrow in Cleveland's huge stadium.

That's the prediction of this corner, which has forecast the season's football games at an 809 pace despite last Saturday's stumbling on eight of 38 decisions.

Other predictions:

St. Mary's-Southern California: West coast odds-makers have the Gaels the six-point favorite but from here it appears the Trojans will triumph: Southern California.

Minnesota-Michigan: Minnesota. Duke-Georgia Tech: Duke. Cornell-Columbia: Cornell. Northwestern-Ohio State: Ohio State.

Villanova-Army: The Cadet Corp marches into Hille stadium at 2:30. The Cadet football team starts marching 15 minutes later. Army.

Princeton-Penn: Princeton is unbeaten, Penn has lost one. After Saturday night they will have identical records. Pennsylvania.

Finishing the remainder in a hurry:

Rutgers over Lehigh: Rochester over New York university. Temple over Lafayette. Penn State over Syracuse. Yale over Dartmouth. Brown over Coast Guard.

Army-Penn Sellout May Produce Record

Philadelphia, Nov. 1 (AP)—That the end of the war has brought a big surge in sports interest, H. Jamson Swarts, director of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania, was willing to attest today.

In announcing that the Army-Penn football battle slated for November 17 is a sellout, Swarts remarked that the all-time attendance figure for a single field may be eclipsed at Franklin field this year.

The stadium was filled to its capacity of 73,000 when Penn played Navy last Saturday, hiking attendance in four games to 223,000.

The national record is 384,500, set at Franklin field in 1940. With four games still to be played, Swarts said the total probably will pass the 400,000 mark.

Besides Army—which will attract 73,000—Penn meets unbeaten but tied Princeton, undefeated Columbia and its traditional Cornell rival.

Indianapolis Caps Stretch Hockey Lead

(By The Associated Press)

The Indianapolis Caps stretched their unbeaten streak in the American Hockey league to seven games by swamping the Buffalo Bisons, 11 to 2, last night.

The Caps, coached by Johnny Sorrell, now have won five games and tied two for a total of 12 points to lead the western division by three points over Pittsburgh. It was the only league game scheduled.

OWL-LAFAYETTE CONTEST HEADS GRID PROGRAM

By LEE LINDER

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—Temple's undefeated, untied Owls, enjoying their best season in eight years, hope to chalk up victory No. 6 tomorrow at the expense of still-to-win Lafayette.

A homecoming day crowd of 20,000—largest Owl home attendance this year—is expected to witness this highlight attraction of the Keystone state's week-end grid calendar which finds 14 Pennsylvania college elevens lining up for the kickoff whistle.

The Templars are rated five touchdowns better than the Maroon and on the basis of comparative scores—the Owls steamrollered Bucknell, 64-0, who then pasted Lafayette 26-2—should win easily.

But Temple Mentor Ray Morrison, pessimistic before every Owl game, warns of an upset.

"Better times than Temple," he says, "have been beaten by worse teams than Lafayette."

Resents Morri Talk

What makes Morrison even more jittery and the Owl eleven perhaps too over-confident is talk that Temple may get a "bowl game" bid.

"Why don't they wait until after we finish our schedule?" he asks. "After Lafayette we play Penn State and Holy Cross—both among the best in the east."

The Red and Blue of Pennsylvania, minus Coach George Munger hospitalized with the gripe and yellow jaundice, clashes with undefeated but tied Princeton at Franklin field.

Penn, knocked from the gridiron's select ranks by Navy a week ago, is expected to have no trouble regaining its winning stride.

Villanova college's Wildcats will have no picnic tomorrow when they meet the mighty Army football machine.

Villanova Coach Jordan Oliver only wants his boys to keep the Cadets from scoring too often. The Wildcats still remember the 83-0 lacing they absorbed last year.

State Plays Syracuse

Penn State's Nittany Lions, idle last week, meet the Orange of Syracuse at State College.

Lock Haven Teachers, in the only state game scheduled tonight, tackle West Chester Teachers at West Chester.

Drexel Tech, upset 7-0 by West Chester a week ago, hopes to defeat an invading Delaware university eleven; Washington and Jefferson entertains Slippery Rock Teachers; Rutgers is host to Lehigh; Scranton journeys to Annapolis to play the Navy plebes and Haverford faces Johns Hopkins at Baltimore in other games tomorrow.

Villanova, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—Freshman Lou Perry, a 215-pound Villanova college tackle, will captain the Wildcats when they meet unbeaten, untied Army at West Point Saturday.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2 (AP)—Frank Varga, 200-pound center and former prisoner of the Nazis, will captain the Temple Owls in their Homecoming Day contest against Lafayette Saturday. Varga, who is a substitute, was named to the post by Coach Ray Morrison in tribute to the 18 former servicemen now playing with the Owls.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 2 (AP)—Lt. William M. Dudley, sensational halfback for the Pittsburgh Steelers football team in 1942 got his discharge from the Army air forces yesterday at Ft. Meade, Md., and indicated he would rejoin his old teammates, possibly in time for the game here Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles.

MURDER CHARGE FILED AGAINST BURKE C. SCOTT

Burke Curtis Scott, 16-year-old Latimore township youth held since Wednesday evening in the shotgun death of his father, Warwick Scott, 56-year-old veteran of World War I, was formally charged with murder late Friday afternoon.

The information was filed before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore by Sgt. Walter K. Duhrkoff of the Gettysburg substation of the state police, who is in charge of the police investigation of the case.

Sergeant Duhrkoff revealed that young Scott has made a statement to police in which he admitted he "cocked the gun and pulled the trigger" while the gun was pointing at his father.

The officer declined to disclose any other parts of the boy's statement to indicate the circumstances under which the shooting occurred.

Boy Remains In Jail

In the information it is alleged that young Scott "feloniously, wilfully and with malice aforethought did kill and slay" his father. The scene of the shooting was the Scott property about three miles northeast of York Springs. The time is given as "at or about 4:30 p. m. on Wednesday, October 24" and the weapon is described as a 12-gauge shotgun.

First versions of the shooting indicated that the gun was discharged during a struggle for possession of the weapon after the father had objected to Burke having the gun. Sergeant Duhrkoff would not say to what extent the boy's statement has altered that version.

The murder charge was laid after a conference between state police and District Attorney J. Francis Yake at the district attorney's office. Young Scott was not present when the charge was filed. He remains in the county jail without bail. In felony cases the prisoners are not bailable before justices of the court to fix the amount of the bond which then would be posted before the clerk of the courts.

Warwick Scott's body was shipped Friday to Marlinton, W. Va., for final services and interment. Scott was born in Hillsboro, W. Va., but had resided in this county for the last six years.

CONCERT FOR E BOND BUYERS

Six hundred Adams countians who purchase series E bonds through agents in the county during the victory Loan drive have in store for them a musical treat in the form of a concert by the Infantry Concert Group, which was so successful in its concert here during the last war loan drive. It is being brought back to Gettysburg by popular demand, it was stated by Sydney J. Poppay, special events chairman of the Adams County War Finance Committee. Regardless of the denomination of the bond, the purchaser will have an opportunity to secure a ticket for the concert.

The concert will be presented in Brua Chapel Friday evening, November 9. Mrs. Frank Kramer will be in charge of general arrangements at the chapel.

Six hundred tickets will be exchanged for pink certification forms issued with the purchase of bonds. There will be no reserved seats.

CHANGE RESIDENCE

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Tilberg and son moved today from East Broadway to 43 East Lincoln avenue.

S. S. WORKERS LAY PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

"Only about 55 per cent of those enrolled in Sunday schools attend regularly," Ira Sassaman, Philadelphia, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association, stated at the workers' conference of the Adams County Council of Christian Education held Friday afternoon at Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church.

Mr. Sassaman, who led the conference, explained the four-year plan for new attainment and growth for counties and districts.

In planning work for the Children's Division it was announced that emphasis this year will be put on friendship, making use of the Bible and daily devotions. It was pointed out that these fundamentals should be taught in the Sunday school.

Plan Youth Program

Plans were presented for a County Youth Council which would formulate a program for Christian activities for the Young People's Division.

In the Adult Department the topic for the year was announced as being "Building a Daily Devotional Life." Special Bible readings have been prepared for daily use from Thanksgiving until Christmas.

The Rev. Howard Schley Fox, pastor of Trinity church, led the devotions.

Forty-three persons attended the banquet Friday evening which was served by women of Trinity church.

A four-day conference will be held for workers Sunday afternoon, November 18, at St. James Lutheran church.

BETTER ROADS IF AMENDMENT IS APPROVED

Better highways in Pennsylvania will be possible in the future if the people of the state vote favorably at the November 6 elections on the Good Roads Amendment on the ballot, the adoption of which will prevent diversion of money from the motor license fund for other than highway purposes, it was stated today by A. J. Sordoni, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and chairman of the Pennsylvania Good Roads association.

"Wartime conditions placed a severe strain on the state's highways," Mr. Sordoni said, "and it is essential that taxes collected for the purpose of building and repairing roads be used for that purpose only in the future."

"In addition to the adoption of the Good Roads Amendment insuring the improvement and maintenance of good state and local roads and city streets which are essential to farm, industry and business, as well as for recreational purposes," Mr. Sordoni continued, "other benefits will be attained."

"A fair deal will be insured to Pennsylvania's motorist taxpayers who have paid almost $900,000,000 to give us better roads by protecting this investment," Mr. Sordoni pointed out. "It will protect motorists against higher motor vehicle taxes resulting from diversion."

"The amendment will stabilize the road fund and allow better planning by the state and local governments of their road and street work, and in no way will it affect allocations of motor fund monies to political subdivisions," the Pennsylvania Motor Federation executive said. "It will also definitely protect Pennsylvania against any loss of federal aid highway funds due to diversion of automobile taxes."

Cpl. D. E. M'Pherson Receives Discharge

Cpl. Donald E. M'Pherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. MacPherson, 103 Carlisle street, received his discharge from the army at Camp Crowder, Missouri, on October 21.

Maps For Pacific Conquest Made Here; Staff Lauded By Admirals King, Nimitz

With the lifting recently of the solid wall of secrecy that has surrounded the Navy War Mapping program at the Lee-Meade inn, an amazing story was revealed about the part of J. E. "Jack" King and his staff of 45 played in winning the war in the Pacific.

Gettysburg knew there was a "war mapping project" underway at the inn two miles south of here along the Emmitsburg road but only a few of the top men there knew that charts needed by the U. S. Hydrographic office to complete highly detailed maps for the invasion—and later the occupation—of Japan, most of the charts for the bloody Iwo Jima campaign and scores of other Yankee targets in the Pacific were being made there.

That story was told in detail for the first time to a reporter for The Gettysburg Times by H. C. Cain, engineer in charge of photo-cartographic control at the inn.

Invented Machines, Methods

Striving to help meet the navy's critical need for adequate bombardment and target charts, the Gettysburg staff often had to go far beyond established engineering practice to solve new problems that only Yankee resourcefulness and ingenuity could lick. Necessity mothered many new methods and designed new equipment at the Lee-Meade inn. Cain admitted that in the future some of them probably will be developed further, and may be found worth patenting.

But the U. S. Forestry Service crew at Gettysburg takes new inventions in stride for the prime instrument in their work was the KEK stereoscopic plotter—invented by a trio of foresters just before the war while they were on forest service work in Region 2 in Colorado.

Without that machine, dozens of models of trees were built by P. B. Kail, one of its inventors, in his own machine shop, the forestry service engineers don't know how they could have met navy demands, and advancing deadlines on high priority work.

"Well Done" From Nimitz

The way in which the Gettysburg staff turned out accurate work under the pressure of navy needs has won a "well done" from Admiral C. W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

The Nimitz letter came through in July with a congratulatory endorsement by Fleet Adm. E. J. King. At about the same time "Jack" King's men received a letter from Rear Adm. G. S. Bryan from the Navy Hydrographic office at Washington congratulating them upon the work they had done in their first year of service for the navy.

Strict secrecy was observed in the work. The aerial photographs which came here from the Pacific were identified only by a project number and were always referred to by number. What the men did know of their work, they could discuss with no one outside the staff, not even their families. Telephone conversations (Continued on Page 2)

FOUND DEAD IN ROCKING CHAIR

Lewis A. Hess, 79, a retired farmer, died suddenly Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock as he sat in a rocking chair at his home along the Biglerville Star Route. Dr. C. G. Crist, the county coroner, said death was due to cerebral embolism.

The deceased was a son of the late Joseph and Mary (Chronister) Hess. His wife died 10 years ago.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Samuel Noel, Biglerville Star Route; 1, one grandchild; a sister, Mrs. John Bishop, Gardeners R. D., and a number of nieces and nephews.

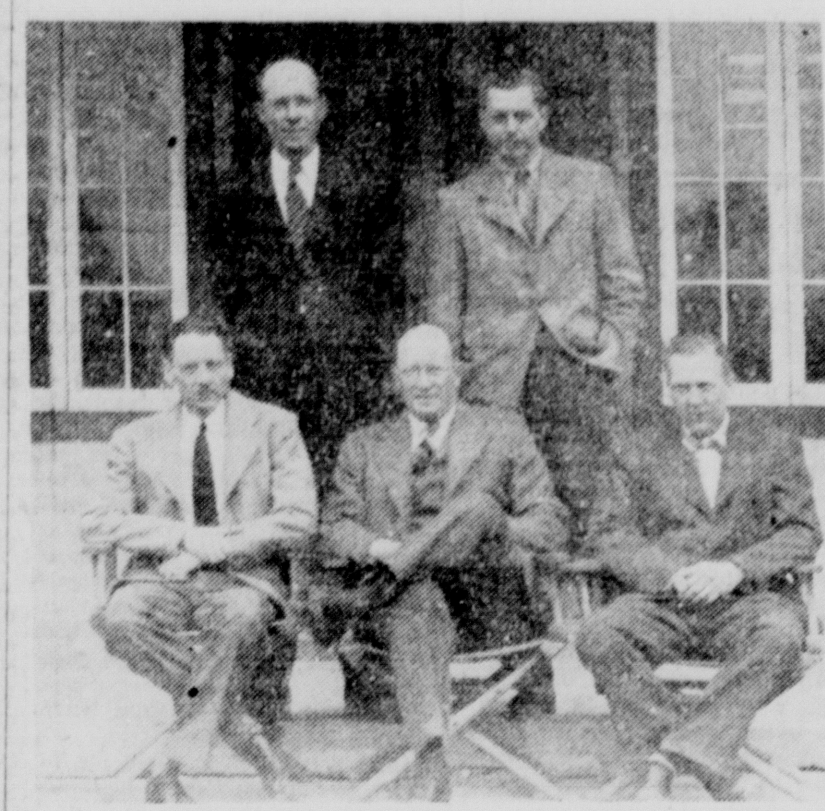

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home with the Rev. H. W. Sternat, Biglerville Lutheran pastor, officiating. Interment in the Biglerville cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Howard Guise, Mike Werts, Roy Dugan, Willis Bream, Allen Eckert and Theodore Weaner.

DAR Chapter Will Hear Miss Albert

Miss Edna Albert, author, York Springs, will be the guest speaker at the November meeting of the Gettysburg chapter, D.A.R., which will be held on Friday afternoon, November 2, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. Kermit Hereter, Howard street.

Miss Albert will use as her subject "A Little Pilgrim to Penn's Woods," the title of one of the books which she has written. The locale of this book is in general the York Springs area while its content is based upon research for her family tree.

Much of the responsibility for producing accurate war maps here for the Navy rested on the shoulders of these five men: Seated (left to right) J. W. Elliott, engineer in charge of stereo-plotting; J. E. "Jack" King, project engineer who was in direct charge of work here; H. C. Cain, engineer in charge of Photo-cartographic control. Standing (left to right) M. A. Walker, engineer in charge of photo-hydrography, and P. B. Kail, who with King and Elliott invented the invaluable KEK stereoscopic plotter.

GUISE FINISHES DUTIES AS CHIEF

Borough police were working double shifts Monday, with prospect of continuing to do so for the next 10 days until the arrival of Gettysburg's new police chief, Robert C. Harpster, Harrisburg, formerly of Lewistown.

Mr. Harpster was elected chief by the Gettysburg council Friday night, on recommendation of the safety council. He was in Gettysburg Saturday but will not report for duty here for 10 days because of the necessity of giving notice to his present employers, the Pennsylvania railroad.

Glenn Guise, who resigned as chief of police to enter the garage business, worked his last day as chief Sunday. Monday he assumed his new duties as manager of the Adams County Motors.

Charles W. Culp and Clark Staley are dividing the work of former Chief Guise pending the arrival of Mr. Harpster, with the assistance of Paul B. Shearer, part-time officer.

PFC. CHRITZMAN IS DISCHARGED

Pfc. Alexis W. Chritzman a veteran of 21 months of overseas service as a rifleman in the infantry during which he was twice wounded, has returned to his home here after having been discharged at Indiantown Gap last Friday. He is the son of William Chritzman, Gettysburg jeweler.

Pfc. Chritzman, who is 32 years old, participated in the invasion of Normandy on D-Day and three days later was wounded in the hips at Montebourg, France. He was wounded again in the lower leg November 20 in the Hurtgen forest in Germany. Both times he was hospitalized in England.

Chritzman wears the Good Conduct medal, the ETO ribbon with battle stars for Normandy and the Rhineland, and the expert combat infantryman's badge besides the Purple Heart with one oak leaf cluster.

He entered service March 2, 1942, at New Cumberland. He was sent to Camp Wheeler, Ga.; Camp Gordon, Ga.; Camp Dix, Camp Gordon Johnston, Fla., and finally to Camp Kilmer before going overseas on January 18, 1944. He reached Liverpool, England, nine days later. He was assigned to Company L, 12th Infantry Regiment of the Fourth Division of the First Army. In April of this year he was transferred to the Air Service Command and sailed for home October 11.

He is returning to his duties as a clerk in his father's jewelry store.

Hospital Auxiliary To Hold Food Drive

Resumption of annual food drives for the Warner hospital was decided upon at a meeting of the Auxiliary of the hospital Monday. Mrs. Marie Zeigler is chairman of the drive which will start next week. Food drives had been discontinued during the war due to travel restrictions.

The Auxiliary has purchased an electric water cooler and turned it over to the hospital.

CITIZENS SIGN PETITIONS ON JAIL LOCATION

A number of petitions asking the county commissioners not to build the new county prison on the selected site at the edge of Gettysburg along the Biglerville road are in circulation in Gettysburg in preparation for formal presentation to the county officials.

The petitions bear the names of residents from all sections of the borough and are in general circulation, it was learned Friday.

Urge Rural Location

A copy of one of the petitions in circulation—and all are said to be similar—follows:

"We, as residents of Adams county, request you not to build a new county jail on land of the present county poor farm, north of Gettysburg, for we believe a more suitable location for it can be found elsewhere in Adams county."

"We request you to consider the building of the new county jail, and in time, a new modern county poor home, at a new location in some rural section of the county so that the present poor farm can be opened for development as a residential addition to Gettysburg and sold for that purpose."

"Too Valuable for Jailyard"

"The land now occupied by our county poor farm, being located as it is, adjacent to a residential area of Gettysburg, is too valuable for use as a jailyard or a poor farm, and we believe it could be sold to advantage for residential purposes, thus effecting a saving to taxpayers of our county."

Recent inquiry at the commissioners' office brought the information that two complaints against the location of the contemplated jail on the edge of Gettysburg had been received there.

$2,455 Reported In War Fund Campaign

With a goal of $21,320, and the campaign scheduled to end November 1, only $2,455.55 had been reported Monday in Adams county war fund drive. Only a few reports have been received from communities outside Gettysburg.

Additional receipts reported today were $461.80, which, added to the amount previously reported of $1,993.75 brought the figure to $2,455.55.

Additional contributions were acknowledged, as follows: Mrs. T. J. Huddle, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Wickerham, J. E. King, U.S.F.S., and U. S. Forest Service ladies, $25; Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. R. Hershey, John Elliott and Mrs. Elizabeth McPherson, $15; T. J. Winebrenner and son, Mrs. William Quillian, William Phelps, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Huber and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roth, $10.

At the second annual membership meeting on November 27, one of the principal matters of business will be the election of a number of directors whose appointive or elective terms expire.

Reorganization of the new board will follow with the election of library association officers.

MURDER CASE HEADS LOCAL COURT ACTIONS

The case of Burke C. Scott, 16, of Latimore township, charged by state police with murder in connection with the death of his father, Warwick R. Scott October 24 from gunshot wounds from a 12-gauge shotgun, will head the list of cases for the November term of court.

The list announced Wednesday by Emma E. Sheffer, clerk of courts, does not contain the Scott case, but District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., said the list would be amended to include it. # JAP PLANE ON DISPLAY HERE

A Jap Zero, shot down over Okinawa by the 306th U. S. Infantry, is on display in the vacant lot opposite the Western Maryland railway station, Carlisle street. It was brought here by the Adams County War Finance committee to stimulate interest in the Victory Loan campaign which got under way Monday.

The plane was brought here from the Mechanicsburg Naval Supply Depot by Chief Machinist T. R. D. Lambert, seven men and two truck drivers. It was assembled upon arrival about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and will remain on display throughout the bond drive. One of the men in the work party is Earl Pyle, formerly of Gettysburg, now a civilian employe at the naval depot.

The plane is the property of the United States government and those who inspect it are cautioned against taking any part of it for souvenirs. It must remain as it is and be returned to the government upon completion of the bond drive.

Paul Dougherty Released By Army

Pvt. Paul Dougherty, Carlisle street, received his discharge from the army October 23 at Sheppard Field, Texas.

Pvt. Dougherty, who was inducted March 6, 1944, served as a radio control tower operator at San Marcos, Texas, and was attached to the 105th Detachment, Army Airways Communication System.

CORONER'S JURY FINDS DELPHEY DEATH 'NATURAL'

The investigation of the death of Charles Phylander Delphey, of near Aspers, was brought to a formal close Tuesday afternoon with the verdict of a coroner's jury that Delphey died of natural causes. Acute coronary thrombosis was listed as the direct cause.

Dr. C. H. Johnson, Warner hospital pathologist, testified at the inquest at the court house that microscopic examinations of Delphey's heart tissue showed conclusively that a blood clot in an artery caused the death. The autopsy showed just as positively, he said, that Delphey did not drown and that the blood clot did not form after death.

State police told of the finding of the body in Possum creek, 300 feet above the bridge on the Biglerville-Heidelsburg road, and of their investigation of Delphey's disappearance September 17 and his death. The coroner's jury fixed September 17 as the probable date of the man's death and gave the place as "along Possum creek, Adams county."

Used Lie Detector

T. Ralph Sandoe, Biglerville, who found Delphey's body September 27 while fishing, told of calling the police and coroner.

Sgt. Walter K. Duhrkoff of the state police displayed a house key and a pocketbook found in Delphey's clothing when his body was discovered and also showed the jury pictures of the body along the creek, taken by a state police photographer from Harrisburg. Sergeant Duhrkoff also disclosed for the first time that a lie detector was used on Charles R. Delphey, foster son of the dead man, in their investigation of the death. Young Delphey is serving a sentence for robbery at the county jail now.

State Police Detective Carl Hartman said he and other officers questioned persons living along Possum creek from Center Mills to where the body was found. They also learned that the day Delphey disappeared the creek was at flood stage. "There is no evidence of foul play but we'll probably never know how he got into the creek," he added.

The jury's verdict was returned 10 minutes after the brief testimony was completed.

The jury included two women who may be the first ever to serve on a coroner's jury in this county. The list included: Mrs. Ethel Crist, Mrs. Frank Mumper, Guy Mickle, Harry Bumbaugh, Curvin Krout and Hugh C. McElhenry.

RABBI SPEAKS IN METHODIST CHURCH HERE

Less than three per cent of the faith of Christianity and Judaism is at variance and divisions between the Jews and Christians are man-made, Rabbi Bookstaber declared in an address Sunday evening in the Gettysburg Methodist church.

Declaring that it is hard for a Jew to live in a Christian country, the rabbi asserted that anti-Jewish teachings are foreign to "real, liberal Christianity." The Lord's prayer is used in synagogues and the merit of the Sermon on the Mount is recognized there, he added.

The speaker read from the pulpit news of archaeological finds in the Holy Land that promise a new interpretation of events surrounding the crucifixion and indicate that Jews of that day were not in favor of the punishment prescribed for Christ by the Roman governor. It may show, he said, that the Romans killed Christ because they feared him as a "dangerous political leader."

Sees Better Days

Criticizing those who destroy the possibility for broad fellowship among all men by accentuating the common grounds of Christianity and Judaism, the speaker predicted more tolerance with the return of servicemen from the battlefield "where there was no distinction between faiths."

"As patriotism makes no distinction between faiths, so does reverence for the one true God also bind men together," he concluded.

founder, through the ages of the patriarchs, to David and Solomon and the prophets. Rabbi Bookstaber opened his address with a brief review of the history of Judaism from its inception in the days of Abraham, its pioneer Rev. Floyd Carroll, pastor of the Gettysburg church, who conducted the service. There was special music by the church choir.

GRAB'S PETITION IS REFUSED BY JUDGE SHEELY

The petition of E. G. Grab, Sr., Gettysburg, alleging an error on the part of the court in disposing of the case brought against him by state police under the Uniform Firearms act last February was refused by Judge W. C. Sheely in a seven-page opinion handed down in court Saturday.

The opinion holds that the gun Grab carried was a firearm in spite of his contention that it lacked a clip and was incapable of being fired; that the procedure chosen by Grab's counsel to have the disposition of the case set aside was wrong and that the defendant has failed to show that the evidence on which the case was re-opened was not discoverable before Grab faced the court for sentence six months ago.

Grab, after becoming involved in an altercation during the course of which he drew a .32 caliber Colt automatic pistol from his pocket was arrested by state police under the Uniform Firearms act. Grab waived indictment and entered a plea of "no defense" and when he appeared in court in February drew a suspended sentence on condition that he pay $200 to the county and the costs of the case.

First Case of Kind
In May, after having secured new counsel, Sydney Friedman, Esq., of Harrisburg, Grab petitioned for a "writ of error" and testimony was taken and the case argued. Friedman contended the gun was not a firearm because the clip was missing, that this fact had just been discovered and was not available when the case was first disposed of.

"The defendant has failed to show that he could not have discovered this fact (concerning the inability of the pistol to be fired with the clip missing) and presented it to the court by the exercise of due diligence had he considered the fact important in his defense," the court wrote.

During argument in the case in court it was brought out that no similar case has been decided in state courts and that the Uniform Firearms act lacks a definition of a firearm. The court offers this definition in Saturday's opinion: "We would define a firearm as a pistol or revolver capable of discharging a cartridge or which, by a simple operation, can be rendered capable of discharging a cartridge."

Wrong Procedure
On the importance of the clip being in the gun, the court wrote: "The removal of the clip merely brings into play certain mechanism which acts as an additional safety device. The insertion of the clip does not make a gun a firearm—it merely releases the safety mechanism."

Judge Sheely attached no significance to the defendant's statement that the clip was 16 miles away in the defendant's home at the time of the altercation at Peach Glen.

Ruling that Grab had taken a wrong procedure in reopening the case through asking a writ of error, Judge Sheely held Grab actually "is seeking to avoid by a writ of error what is not an erroneous adjudication" by the court but an alleged erroneous decision (on the part of the defendant) to enter the no defense plea.

There is no intimation in the testimony in the case, the court held, that state police misled Grab at the time he filed his plea.

Xmas Street Light Fund Short Of Goal

Approximately half of the amount of money needed to string laurel and colored lights on Gettysburg's business streets during the Christmas holiday season has been subscribed, the Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday.

Cost of the Christmas lighting has been placed at $300 or more. This is an increase from prewar years, because of increased cost of the laurel and the necessity of replacing lights and equipment.

The chamber said that no solicitation of members had been conducted yet. All contributions listed thus far have been from non-members.

IN CHINA SEA DURING STORM

A terrific storm in the China sea is described by Paul Goodermuth, MOMM 1/C, in a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Goodermuth, 238 East Middle street. Excerpts from the letter follow:

"We left Okinawa Sunday morning and after we were underway the skipper told us our next stop would be Tsingtao, China. Late Sunday night we ran into a storm and we still are in it. Some of the boys aboard have been here before and say this is the worst storm they have ever been in.

"The wind blew sometimes as high as 60 miles per hour and the waves are from 40 to 60 feet high. It got so bad this morning that no one was allowed on top side from the center of the ship forward. Every time we hit a large wave the bow of the ship would go down so far you would think it was never coming up and while it was down the stern would be clear of the water, the propeller turning over in air and shaking the whole ship. I do not scare very easily but last night I really was scared. I wasn't frightened only about the storm but about the mines floating around."

In a previous letter Goodermuth revealed that his ship, the USS Kermit Roosevelt, had been ordered to join a convoy to leave Okinawa in order to avoid the recent typhoon that hit the island. While away from the island for several days, Goodermuth's ship passed a floating mine but 75 feet off the port side. The local sailor stated there were still Jap snipers on Okinawa.

While recently at Pearl Harbor with his ship Goodermuth missed meeting his brother, Roy, an infantryman, whose ship was also harbored there.

Paul Goodermuth enlisted in the Navy in April, 1943.

Maps For

were guarded and place names omitted.

Work Closely Guarded
While their husbands put in long hours at the inn on their secret duties, the wives of the Gettysburg mappers organized their own social group, The U. S. Forestry Service Ladies, and met regularly. Many of the women in the group took an active part in Gettysburg community life. Several served as Red Cross nurses' aides and others were often called upon to entertain local organizations with their musical talents.

When highly critical work orders came through that put the men on 24-hour duty, seven days a week, the families could only guess that "something big" was coming.

Civilian guards employed by the National Park Service guarded the inn 24 hours a day and all critical maps and manuscripts not in use were kept in specially constructed vaults in the inn's basement.

Never Missed A Deadline
There were few visitors—an occasional military party from Camp Ritchie or others with official permission—but even then secret maps and charts were locked up and the visitors saw only the machinery with which the men worked.

"There were times," Cain related, "when navy deadlines seemed impossible . . . and then before we were well into the project the deadline would be moved up. After we had been working for the navy about five months, they ordered us to double production. We could find only a few more photogrammetrists and engineers to add to the staff so it meant harder work, longer hours and speedier methods."

The Gettysburg mapping crew never missed a deadline and had the satisfaction of rushing many topographic maps and charts under special navy guard to the Hydrographic office at Washington days ahead of schedule.

Maps Rushed to Pacific
The urgency of the work done here was demonstrated by the fact that frequently when maps of high priority areas were rushed to Washington, the messenger found a navy plane with its motors idling and ready to rush the maps and charts westward by air to the battlefronts thousands of miles away as soon as the Hydrographic office incorporated them into charts and printed them.

The end of the war did not bring any letup for the mappers. There were immediate cancellations and then the cancellations were promptly rescinded and the mapping of Japan—either for use by invading forces or an army of occupation—went ahead on full schedule. The navy wasn't taking any chances on being caught without complete maps of Japan if they should be needed.

Only last month did the rush let up and on September 10 the map project went on a 40-hour week with Saturdays and Sundays off—the first time the "pressure" has been off for the staff since they began war work soon after Pearl Harbor.

Worked On West Coast First
When the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor most of the men now working at the Lee-Meade inn were in the U. S. Forestry Service, Department of Agriculture, and were scattered through nine regions of the United States.

In those days when enemy invasion of this country was more than a possibility, the government found itself without adequate maps of much of the nation's coastal area and the Forestry service engineers were one of the groups

Commissioners Endorse Plans For Book Week

"The Adams County Commissioners join with the state and nation in endorsing the week of November 11 to 17 as the annual book festival. Its theme of 'more books for more people' is to become a reality here through the newly created Adams county free library. The people are urged to read and to discuss books as well as to present suitable volumes to the public library and to become members of the Adams County Free Library association. By thoughtful reading, each citizen helps to create the bright new world and all become 'United Through Books.'"

HELD FOR MORE APPLE THEFTS

State police on Saturday filed two new larceny charges against Robert Brennan, Gettysburg R. 1, involving thefts of apples from Pape's fruit farm, between Idaville and York Springs and the Heller fruit farm, near Bendersville.

Brennan has signed guilty pleas to these charges and to an earlier information involving two previous thefts from the Heller property. Altogether more than 300 bushels of apples were stolen on 16 different visits to the two orchards, police say. The thefts occurred between September 27 and October 23, the date of his arrest.

The defendant has admitted that he sold the apples at $2.75 in York, Hanover and Littlestown. He charged the same price regardless of variety. Police recovered more than $100 in cash that Brennan had received from the apples.

The charges are filed before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder who ordered Brennan, who is a carpenter, committed to jail in default of $1,000 bail on each charge.

called upon to meet that deficiency as rapidly as possible. All of the trained personnel of nine regions were assembled for the work and assigned to top priority areas on the west coast first.

They were making maps for the army only 60 miles away when the Jap sub shelled the west coast. The mappers had orders to evacuate the area and burn secret records that could not be taken along in event of invasion.

Came Here In 1943
The mappers put into use their own patented and inexpensive stereoscopic plotter. They weren't sure then how good it was but it produced and built dozens of them in his Denver workshop while the mappers did the first field work on the west coast.

As the war progressed, the urgency of the army mapping work diminished. The most important areas in the west were finished and the mappers moved east coming to Gettysburg in the fall of 1943 to map an eastern coastal section. By July of 1944 the work for the army was finished.

The Navy Department liked the accomplishment record of the Forestry Service mappers and a contract was completed placing the Forestry Service men at the disposal of the Hydrographic office of the Navy. Strict secrecy restrictions were placed on the work, guards were posted and production for the navy began with a degree of urgency never encountered in their work for the army. Gettysburg seemed an appropriate place for the work for security reasons and as far as the mappers know there was never any attempt at sabotage or interference with operations here.

Stressed Accuracy
Other mapping services were doing similar work elsewhere in the country but the Gettysburg project was unique in many ways. Much of its equipment was developed here, new methods were found and the Gettysburg staff solved difficult problems in their own way as they arose.

The entire inn was utilized. The lobby floor was covered by a huge "laydown board" measuring 16 x 52 feet, substantially built and painstakingly surfaced with plywood and dozens of coats of paint and enamel to offer the best possible working surface in the interest of accuracy—which the mappers strove to attain because of the big stakes they knew were being placed on the product of their work.

The mappers knew that American planes, ships and lives depended on their accurate indication of the contour of a shoreline, the location of a reef, the features of an atoll, the elevation and exact location of a hill, a building or a stream.

Mapped Nagasaki Area
The men worked almost exclusively from 9 x 9 or 9 x 18 aerial photos made by Yankee reconnaissance or bombing planes over enemy territory.

The Nagasaki area was mapped in detail—and there was special pride among the mappers when they knew the area they had mapped received one of the atomic bombs that helped speed the end of the war. They know their maps were

GROUP TAKES STEP TO STOP SUPER-ROADS

State College, Pa., Oct. 26—Superhighway enthusiasts can now anticipate organized opposition in Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Free Roads Association, formed here last night by business and professional men representing nearly every section of the state, announced a preliminary platform bluntly opposing extension of toll and superhighways.

Henry M. Scharf, Gettysburg hotelman and spokesman for the group, declared:

"Our aim is to develop all Pennsylvania highways and not to expand toll roads at the expense of people living in hundreds of small scattered communities."

"It is impossible to combine existing free roads with toll roads," he added. "Even the Pennsylvania turnpike could not stand the competition of a good free highway."

Tourist and vacation business in Pennsylvania is now worth nearly a half billion dollars, said E. S. Shuck, Clearfield, who presided at the meeting. It should reach the seven hundred million mark by 1950, he added.

"This tourist business is good because it filters across the small highways and brings money to everybody," he said. "A system of superhighways would funnel these tourists—and their money—right through Pennsylvania and turn many small communities into ghost towns."

Sponsored by the William Penn Lincoln Highway Association, the meeting was called to "fight for the modernization of free highways in all parts of the state as against the ideology of toll turnpikes and such other limited access routes that will by-pass Pennsylvania communities rather than connect and serve them."

Name Delegates
The highway group said extension of the present turnpike will "connect the urban areas of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at the sacrifice of every other city and town in the state."

Eleven delegates of the new group were selected to draw up a constitution and elect officers.

They include Larry Woodin, Wellsboro; Howard C. Mittinger, Gettysburg; Frank S. Fay, Smithport; H. A. Leitell, State College; C. E. Noyes, Williamsport; Raymond Gibbs, Scranton; Tom Nokes, Johnstown; Thomas P. Troy, Pittsburgh; Franklin Moore, Harrisburg; Walter Von Brock, Stroudsburg, and Shuck.

used when that momentous flight was plotted.

They mapped many critical sections of Japan including part of the Hiroshima section, many targets in the Marshalls and Marianas when the Americans needed detail maps for bombardment or invasion. Part of Borneo was mapped and one of the biggest rush jobs handled here was the mapping of Formosa. Islands in the Okinawa area also were mapped.

Use Captured Maps
One of the toughest problems faced by the mappers was to find maps or charts on which they could locate "control points" about which they could orient their new maps. In some instances captured Jap maps and charts were brought here, old marine charts, some of them made 80 years ago, were pressed into use. Because of Jap secrecy for years, few adequate maps of enemy territory were on hand when the war started.

The mappers here devised a system for transferring control points between maps and the laydown board that they have made standard practice. Their plotting was done with a tolerance for error of five-thousandths of an inch. All of the maps had to be up to specifications on accuracy. A system of radio-plotting was used that in the field would have been handled by a surveyor's tripod—but the area they were mapping was thousands of miles away. All of this group's work for the navy came from the Pacific.

One "war baby" the mappers here had to learn to handle was the trimetrogon photography the navy developed. Instead of a single camera pointed in a vertical position, a battery of three cameras was used with one on each side of the vertical machine set at an angle so that the target area was photographed from horizon to horizon in each set of three photos.

Used King's Projector
There were problems of "tilt analysis" to be computed before accurate composite photos could be transferred to maps. Each shot had to be oriented and clouds, enemy action, and mechanical difficulties with the cameras combined to complicate the mappers' problems.

Some of the equipment used here was provided by the navy including one vertical reflection projector. But the mappers had two of those machines to use for they had the model built years before by "Jack" King with some features that the new commercial model lacks. King's machine was brought here from Denver.

Tables with underlying lights for map work could not be secured so the engineers designed their own models and had them built by I. H. Crouse and Sons in Littlestown. The project held top priority on any materials they needed so there was no serious supply problem.

The second floor of the inn was

Lincoln Dinner Here November 19

Henry E. Luhrs, of Shippensburg, secretary-treasurer of the Lincoln Fellowship, of Pennsylvania, announced Wednesday that the group will resume its activities this year, after a lapse during the war.

The group will hold a Lincoln dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg on Monday noon, November 19. The dinner will be served at 12:30 o'clock. This was an annual gathering prior to the outbreak of the war and then was discontinued because of various war-time restrictions. Beginning this year it will be resumed and continued each year.

Officers of the fellowship will be elected, and a pilgrimage will be made to the National cemetery where a brief program will be held.

Reservations, at $1.50 per plate will be made with Mr. Luhrs at Shippensburg before November 12.

used chiefly as work rooms for stereotyping. Other rooms were set up as editing and checking offices. A part of the basement was work-space but much of it was given over to vaults to protect the maps—maps which never covered quite all of any target area so that if any set had fallen into enemy hands it would have been of little value alone.

Eight men heading the project were singled out for particular commendation for their work by Rear Admiral Bryan, Navy Hydrographer.

The list includes: Marshall S. Wright, technical assistant to the chief, Office of Plant and Operations, who worked in the office of the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington; T. W. Norcross, chief of the division of engineering and also stationed at Washington; J. E. King, project engineer and man directly in charge of the Gettysburg program; E. S. Massie, Washington, assistant project engineer; W. E. Webb, administrative officer, formerly located here but now stationed in Washington; H. C. Cain, engineer in charge of photo-earthenographic control; J. W. Elliott, engineer in charge of stereotyping, and M. A. Walker, engineer in charge of photo-hydrography.

The KKK Inventors
King, Elliott and P. B. Kall were the trio that invented and perfected the stereoscopic plotter. Kall has since developed another type of plotter for specialized work.

"Jack" King, the boss on the job for the mapping project here, has had many years of experience in aerial mapping. A native of Banner Elks, North Carolina, he has been with the U. S. Forest Service for 11 years.

In 1932, he organized and served as president of the King Aerial Survey and did a great deal of aerial photography in the west in that business during the next two years. He made his own aerial photos and continued in that business until joining the Forestry Service.

Competent Staff
His earlier engineering and mapping experience had taken him to Alaska, Venezuela and the Dominican Republic as well as many parts of this country. He served years as a topographical engineer with the Geological Survey.

Most of the members of his staff here are engineering school graduates. Some however were inexperienced and untrained but have acquired engineering skills during their work with the Forestry Service crew.

A few local employees have been added: Willard Weikert and James Pierce, both discharged veterans of overseas service; James Smith, Dale Shields, Robert King and Mrs. Clara Riley, the office secretary and only woman on the staff. Her husband is serving overseas in the armed forces.

"Fairly Satisfactory"
In his letter of "congratulation and appreciation," Admiral Nimitz spoke highly of the manner in which the Hydrographic office "habitually" met navy deadlines.

"The efficiency and promptness with which the Hydrographic office has filled the needs of unanticipated and varying operations has been and is an important contribution in offensive action against the Japanese forces," the Pacific chief wrote. Their task "of major proportions" has been "well done," he asserted.

As he finished his story of the mapping staff's part in Pacific victory, Mr. Cain ventured the opinion that "we feel the work we turned out has been fairly satisfactory."

To Stay Here Until July
The mappers' work here forms a new and colorful chapter in Adams county's contribution in World War II.

Maps of Gettysburg have long been studied by military men but in this conflict maps made at Gettysburg—in a building facing the historic Round Tops and on land over which Pickett's men charged 82 years ago—played an important military role in final victory.

The mappers will remain in Gettysburg at least until next July on navy work. There are a few final charts of Japan to be made and the navy needs more maps and charts of many areas in the Pacific before all of the Forestry men can return to the far from complete task of mapping many large areas in this country.

MARYLAND TOPS OUT OF STATE VISITORS HERE

More persons from Maryland visited the Gettysburg National Military park in the 1945 travel year, between September 30, 1944 and October 1, 1945, as shown by the number of actual guided trips, than from any other state in the union except Pennsylvania. New York was a close third.

The report of the national park service shows that 1,460 Marylanders visited Gettysburg, as compared with 1,453 from New York. A total of 1,346 from Maryland came in 351 automobiles, and 114 more traveled in four buses. The 1,453 Empire staters came in 464 automobiles.

The home state of Pennsylvania registered 7,397. Of these, 5,779 came in 1,574 automobiles and 1,618 came in 67 buses during the year.

Total number of cars visiting the battlefield was 4,216, bringing 15,644 persons, and 85 buses brought 2,021, for a grand total of 17,665. These figures do not include unguided trips.

Lt. Spicer has seen 37 months of service. He was overseas from December, 1943, to August, 1944, with the 15th Air Force, and has been awarded the air medal with four clusters, the ETO ribbon with four stars and the presidential unit citation with one cluster.

HOME FROM CONFERENCE

Mrs. Eva Pape, Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, Mrs. Frederic E. Griest and Mrs. Nevin Grieb have returned from Atlantic City where they attended the week-end conference of the North Atlantic Region of Soroptimist clubs held at the Hotel Clarendon. Each of the 41 clubs in the Region were represented, with a total attendance of 250. Six new clubs were admitted since the spring conference.

Sergeant Duhrkoff testified that young Scott said his father had been killed with gunshot; his father had hold of the gun barrel while he held the stock. Sergeant Duhrkoff said the boy later told him that he cocked the gun and pulled the trigger.

Scott was remanded to jail.

THREE ARTISTS AND DATES FOR CONCERTS GIVEN

Selection of the third artist and the date for the three concerts to be presented here this winter by the Gettysburg Concert Association were announced Thursday by the association.

The three artists and the dates they will appear here are:

November 29: Solveig Lund, pianist.

February 15: Florence Kirk, soprano.

March 12: Angel Reyes, violinist.

Members of the local concert association are pleased with the selection of the three artists to furnish the musical entertainment here this winter. They feel that the selection committee made an excellent choice and that local music lovers will be immensely pleased with the concerts.

Shortly before the close of the membership drive it was not believed that three such top-flight artists would be available here, because of the heavy expense involved. However, the returns to the 1945 membership appeal were sufficient to make it possible for the committee to secure the three artists who have been signed to contracts to appear here.

Concerts in Chapel
All three concerts will be presented in Brina chapel. For each concert the doors will open at 8 o'clock and each concert will start promptly at 8:30 p. m. Late comers will not be admitted until the first intermission.

Membership tickets will be mailed to all members who enrolled this year in the early future.

Solveig Lund is rated by music critics as one of the finest pianists on the concert stage.

Miss Kirk, who is internationally known, has already reached the top brackets in the musical world. She has appeared a soloist with some of the largest and finest symphony orchestras in this country and abroad. Local music lovers feel that Gettysburg was fortunate to be able to secure her for one of the concerts.

Calvin C. Maitland, Littlestown, was released in $300 bail for a hearing later by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder early Thursday following his arrest at 11:15 p. m. Wednesday night on a hit and run charge.

State police said Maitland side-swiped an automobile operated by Robert Newman, Fairfield, east of Fairfield on route 116 and failed to stop. He was caught six miles east of the scene of the accident.

No one was injured, but state police estimated damage to both automobiles at $125.

Greyhound Service Suspended By Strike

Gettysburg was without Greyhound bus service to Pittsburgh, Washington and Philadelphia Thursday, as a strike of Greyhound employees tied up Greyhound service between the Mississippi and the Atlantic seaboard. Service was suspended at midnight.

The Gettysburg-Harrisburg bus line and the Blue Ridge bus line were not affected by the strike. Ticket sellers and garage employees in Gettysburg remained at work today. They are employed by Greyhound Post, House, which has not been affected by the strike.

Twenty Greyhound buses operate through Gettysburg daily from east, west and south.

BIGLERVILLE ENROLLMENT INCREASING

Enrollment in the Biglerville public schools shows a total of 586 as of Wednesday, according to figures released by L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the Junior-Senior high school. Enrollment in the elementary school is 163 and in the Junior-Senior school 423.

The number of pupils in both schools has shown a steady increase. In 1936, the enrollment in the elementary school was 86, and in the Junior-Senior school the same year was 201 in the grades seven through 12.

Instructors in the elementary school are: June Bigham, grade one; Ruth Gentsler, grade two; and Margaret Miller, grade three. The work of grades four, five and six is departmentalized with the following instructors in charge:

Francis Coulson, principal and teacher of reading, social studies and penmanship; Alma Miller, arithmetic, English and spelling; C. L. Yost, music, and Velma Strayer, art.

There are 19 teachers employed in the Junior-Senior school. The music and art instructors divide their time between the high school program and the elementary school. All other teachers spend full time in their respective fields on the secondary level.

Teaching Personnel
The following is the teaching personnel in the Junior-Senior school:

L. V. Stock, supervising principal; C. L. Yost, assistant supervising principal; S. Ray Shetter, assistant high school principal; Velma Strayer, supervisor of art; C. P. Keefer, guidance director and instructor in Latin and French; Lena Boyer, English; Elda Orndorff, English; Mary Elizabeth Baschoff, social studies; Arthur Gordon, social studies; S. A. Ehlman, science; Lawrence Gulden, mathematics and science; Virginia Troxell, mathematics; Louise Hemphill, librarian; Janet Hoke, commercial; C. R. Snyder, vocational agriculture; Mary Auvi, vocational home economics; Charles Conway, mechanical drawing and wood shop; B. G. Walter, machine shop; Ruth Crawford, school nurse. The time of the school nurse is also divided between the elementary and high school programs.

The Bucher building adjoining the present grade school building was leased by the school board last year in order to provide additional housing facilities caused by the increased enrollment. This is only a temporary measure, according to Mr. Stock, as it is hoped that permanent classrooms can be added to the original building as soon as building regulations and materials make it possible.

The Biglerville school district has its educational program organized on the 6-6 plan. These units are housed in separate buildings and have been approved by the Department of Public Instruction. The secondary unit has been approved by the Commission of Secondary Schools for the Middle Atlantic States and Maryland since 1928 and last year was given a re-evaluation by a visiting committee of 14 members.

New Facilities Planned
This is a national accrediting agency and its committee spent two days examining all phases of the educational system. Its report made possible the continuance of the school as a member of the national association.

"The increased enrollment of the school makes it necessary to plan for additional facilities such as gymnasium, cafeteria, auditorium, administrative offices and classrooms for specialized subjects such as music and art, in order to maintain its standards in conformity with the requirements of the association," Mr. Stock said. "These plans are now under way and it is hoped that they will become realities in the not too distant future."

"The expansion of the educational program of the school has naturally involved an increased cost of operation," Mr. Stock continued. "The school budget has increased in proportion to the school population. This increased budget was made possible through increased federal and state support, together with tuition paid to the district for pupils attending from other districts which do not maintain a secondary school program."

"The tax rate for the district has been maintained at 20 mills for the past 14 years. This has been

600 Is Capacity
The capacity of Brua chapel is 600, and only that number of tickets will be available to bond buyers.

The policy of first come, first served will be followed in the exchange of tickets, and the same policy will be observed in the seating of ticket holders at the chapel the night of the concert as there will be no reserved seats.

Mrs. Frank Kramer, who will be in charge of arrangements at the chapel, announced that the doors will open at 7:45 o'clock. The concert will begin promptly at 8:30 p. m.

The concert group, comprising 22 enlisted men who, before entering the Army, were outstanding instrumentalists in radio, movie, recording and symphony orchestras, is conducted by Sgt. Rudnitsky will use his $45.00 Stradivarius violin on which he performed at the previous concert here.

The concert group has been slightly enlarged by the addition of four musicians since its appearance here last May.

The program will include light classics, waltzes, musical comedy, operettas, excerpts from symphonies and music written by such modern composers as David Rose, Jerome Kern, and others.

Mail orders will be received at the theatre Mr. Poppay said.

done even though the school population has more than doubled during the same period. The chief concern of the school authorities is to provide a varied program of studies for the youth of the communities that it serves at a reasonable cost."

Five In Service
The management of the school is under the direction of a board L. W. Kleinfelter, president; C. A. Nary, vice president; W. H. Lady, secretary; Dr. M. T. Dill, treasurer and R. M. Martin, member.

Five of the employees of the school system are serving in the armed forces at the present time. They are: Jack W. Yohe, U. S. Navy who served as coach and instructor in health and physical education; Edgar Benner, U. S. Navy, instructor in the metal shop and mechanical drawing; George W. Reisinger, U. S. Army, instructor in English, Dale W. Smith, U. S. Army, instructor in commercial subjects.

Ellis McCracken, U. S. Navy, is a fifth member in the armed services, serving for one year as a substitute in the position vacated Mr. Yohe when he entered the service. The positions are awaiting the return of these men as they are now being filled by other teachers on a substitute basis.

The offerings of the school on a secondary level are as follows: academic curriculum, scientific curriculum, commercial curriculum, industrial arts program including courses in machine shop practice, forging, welding, sheet metal, foundry, woodworking, electricity, carpentry and mechanical drawing and blue print reading, vocational agricultural curriculum, vocational home economics and programs in health and physical education.

"An attempt is made to promote an extensive and well-balanced extra curricular program," Mr. Stock said. "It is not the plan to have any of these groups become more important than the whole school of which it is a part, yet we recom-

Halloween was generally observed in Gettysburg Wednesday evening. For the younger set it was "a lot of fun" but for some of the older folk it was costly.

Police reported that they received no unusual complaints. At one home large stone benches were dismantled and scattered over the yard. A portable clothes line stand was smashed and there were many instances of garbage scattered all over various premises. A garden swing at one home was also badly damaged.

One housewife reported that the top of a large, valuable crockery vase was broken when culprits tried to remove it from her porch.

Residents in the north end of town had difficulty finding porch furniture all week. Some was strewn along the Harrisburg road and others pitched into nearby fields. Some of the furniture was not located this morning. The pranksters in that area started celebrating Halloween more than a week ago.

Two women found several of their clothes lines cut and their clean washing lying in the mud. Milk bottles were broken on several driveways.

Beyond Fun Limits

Many pranksters went far beyond the limits of "good fun." One filled a quart bottle with an offensive liquid, tilted it against a front door and then rang the bell when the door was opened the bottle fell into the house spilling its contents over the floor and an expensive rug.

There were many reported instances of lipstick brushed on windshields of stores, homes and automobiles. Police had forbidden the use of soap, hence the pranksters resorted to lipstick.

Members of the drum and bugle corps of Boy Scout Troop 79 headed an informal parade of youngsters through the streets of town.

There were some neighborhood "scraps" and bushes of corn were hurled all over town. Many of the younger folk dressed up in varied Halloween costumes.

MAROON SCRUBS DOWN HANOVER

A football victory finally came to Gettysburg high school's forces Friday evening when Fred Haehnel's Maroon jayvees defeated the Hanover junior high varsity 12-0 in a game played on the local field.

Westerdahl, Gettysburg halfback, tallied both touchdowns for the locals. Late in the second quarter he broke off tackle, cut for the side lines and outran the Hanover defense to scamper 40 yards for a touchdown.

The visitors, evidently expecting an easy conquest, had started their shock troops but immediately inserted the varsity following Westerdahl's touchdown. Despite the presence of the regulars, the Haehnel-men played their opponents on even terms the remainder of the period.

Again in the third period the Maroons dominated play throughout but could not generate enough power for a score.

In the final frame the Maroons drove 75 yards for a score, Westerdahl going over from the one-yard line. Line plunges by Hottle and Westerdahl and several passes to Ridinger moved the ball into scoring position.

The Maroons showed much improvement on the offense and defense, particularly on pass defense. Hottle, Westerdahl and Ridinger played well on the offense with Shetter being outstanding defensively. The entire line played excellent ball, particularly in the second half.

2 Pacific Veterans Home On Furloughs

Two Gettysburg men who saw lengthy service in the Pacific are nearing the end of their furlough. Shipfitter Donald Staub of the navy will report to Philadelphia November 6, and Pfc. Elman Williams, who served as a radar operator with the 5th Air Force in the Pacific, will report at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., November 17.

Staub is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril J. Staub, 161 York street. He joined the navy in November, 1942, about the same time that Williams entered the army. He trained at Bainbridge, Md., before being assigned to a patrol craft, and participated in several invasions, as well as acting as patrol in convoy Staub spent almost 28 months overseas.

Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Meader Williams, 228 Buford avenue. He trained at Miami, Fla., and in Texas and California, and was overseas two and a half years. He has the Pacific theater and Philippine invasion decorations with two bronze stars.

The 34th annual convention of the Woman's League of Gettysburg college opened Thursday with 19 officers, 20 delegates and 145 visitors registered at the first session at 10 a. m. in Wednesday hall.

The roll call revealed 16 of the 17 sub-leagues represented by officers, delegates and visitors. One of the highlights of the morning session was the presence of four Canadian members of the Woman's league and the extension of greetings in verse on behalf of herself and her colleagues by Mrs. Gillespie, president of the Woman's League of Waterloo, Canada.

"The Most Excellent Way" was the theme of the first session, which opened with Mrs. Charles W. Baker, president, presiding. Devotions were led by Mrs. Robert C. Benner, Harrisburg league. Report of the credentials committee was made by Mrs. Henry T. Bream, Gettysburg league.

LOCAL YOUTH ON LARGE CARRIER

Eugene F. Utech, 19, seaman, first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Utech, 452 West Middle street, has been assigned to the crew of the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt, second line of the Navy's new super aircraft carriers.

The 45,000-ton carrier, named for the late President Roosevelt, is the first major combatant vessel of the modern fleet ever to be named for an individual.

Members of the ship's crew took pre-commissioning training at the Atlantic Fleet's Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I.

New York (AP)—President Truman commissioned the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt Saturday as a symbol of America's pledge to the United Nations to help "stop any international gangster."

In his first New York speech since he succeeded the man whose name is inscribed in bronze on the mighty new warship, the President paid warm tribute to the late President's foreign and domestic policies and stressed international cooperation. Mr. Truman said:

"This ship is a symbol of our commitment to the United Nations organization to reach out anywhere in the world and to help the peace-loving nations of the world stop any international gangster."

"A hundred hours after leaving New York this ship could be off the coast of Africa. In five days she could cross the western Pacific from Pearl Harbor to the Philippines. This vessel alone could put more than 100 fighting planes over a target."

Law As Arbiter

The President asserted the United States will strive to bring that force closer when law rather than force will be the "arbiter of international relations." Until then, he urged that the nation make sure that "no possible aggressor is going to be tempted by any weakness on the part of the United States."

TOLD OF ESCAPE

28th Division Is Inactivated

Camp Shelby, Miss.
(AP)—The 28th Division, federalized in 1941 from a Pennsylvania National Guard unit, is being inactivated.

The 28th, known as the "Bloody Bucket" because of its service in Normandy and in the Battle of the Bulge, suffered 24,508 casualties in 285 days of combat.

Company E, the Adams county company of the former Pennsylvania National Guard, became a part of the 28th when it was activated in February, 1941, and many of the county men remained in the 28th throughout the war.

R. C. HARPSTER NAMED AS NEW CHIEF OF POLICE

Robert C. Harpster, Harrisburg, formerly of Lewistown, a veteran of 15 years experience as a policeman and detective, was elected as Gettysburg's new chief of police at a special meeting of council Friday evening.

He will succeed Chief of Police Glenn Guise, who has resigned to become manager of the Adams County Motors by November 1. Harpster will start his new job "as soon as possible," councilmen said. He probably will come here this week.

The new chief will start work at $2,000 per year. Guise now receives $2,400. The new man has the prospect of a salary increase if his work proves satisfactory, it was indicated by councilmen Friday evening.

Recommended by Committee
Harpster is 38 years old, weighs 179 pounds and is five feet 10 inches tall. He is married and the father of two children. Members of the safety committee said they expect Harpster's family will come to Gettysburg soon.

Council's selection was made on the basis of a recommendation of the safety committee presented by Chairman Harry J. Troxell who said Harpster is his committee's choice for the job from among 18 applicants for the position. "We think he has the qualifications that are needed to perform successfully the job of chief of police in Gettysburg," Mr. Troxell said.

The new officer served for two years on the borough police force in Lewistown and for two years was police chief in Burnham, Pa., near Lewistown. Then for eight years he served as a special investigator out of the office of the district attorney at Lewistown after which he was employed for three years and three months as a detective for the Pennsylvania railroad. He is now in the railroad's employ.

Went To Lewistown

The safety committee's investigation of the applicant included a trip to Lewistown Tuesday by Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer and Councilman George D. March. They made inquiries about his professional record and his character in that community with satisfactory results, they told council.

Harpster's election was unanimous. The safety committee had reported the officer was willing to come to Gettysburg at a starting salary of $1,800 but council decided on the higher figure as "more fair" to a qualified officer.

Discussion of his qualifications brought out the information that he is trained to take fingerprints and has some experience with photography. There is both fingerprinting equipment and a camera in borough police headquarters here.

One councilman
